

Field: Financial Economics, specialising in asset management and risk management.
Consultant to pension funds, mutual fund managers, companies and banks.

Previously co-developed the investment management practice and designed the first local issues of corporate debt at Citibank Buenos Aires, team-led the corporate finance department at the First National Bank of Chicago completing merger and acquisitions mandates, after heading the economic analysis desk in General Motors Argentina.

Graduated in Economics at the Universidad del Salvador, Buenos Aires, and attended several Finance seminars at Harvard University and the Wharton School.

Finance Professor at the Universidad del CEMA since 1991 in the master's and undergraduate programmes, delivered Finance courses and in-house seminars in various banks and companies, including the Citibank Professional Development Center (Florida), Universidad Torcuato Di Tella, Universidad de Belgrano, Universidad Católica de Salta, and Fundación del Tucuman.

Co-authored books and publications on Finance in specialised and leading newspapers.